Dr. Ayla Gafni

Job Talk Demonstration

Tuesday, December 3rd, 2019
3:00 p.m. Hume 321

Abstract: The "job talk" is one of the most important aspects of your academic job search, but it's also one of the most daunting to prepare. It is your chance to introduce yourself and your research to the entire department. A good job talk presents a clear and cohesive research program of past results and future projects, in a way that is understandable to all mathematicians. In this session, Dr. Gafni will demonstrate the job talk she used in interviews last year. After the talk, there will be an informal discussion about her experience on the academic job market.
